

Amazon Rainforest - The Lungs of the Earth

Monitoring from Ground and Space

Tuesday, October 25th 2011 13:00 – 17:00
Tokyo International Forum (Hall D5)
No charge to participate

Keynote Speech

Amazonian Rainforest and its carbon stock -Ground-based Forest Inventory for Biomass Estimation in the Brazilian Amazon-

Dr. Niro Higuchi

National Institute of Amazonian Research, Brazil
2010 Award of BUNGE foundation JICA President Award 2011

Japanese/English simultaneous interpretation is available throughout the seminar

Overview of the Carbon Dynamics of Amazonian Forests project
Moriyoshi Ishizuka (Principal Research Coordinator, FFPRI, Japan)

Divers observations of Amazon forest from space

Sawada Haruo (Professor, Institute of Industrial Science, the University of Tokyo, Japan)

Possibility of Japan-Brazil corporation through REDD+ in Brazil

Takayoshi Fukuyo (Japan Embassy in Brazil) will address via video

Panel discussion

Moderator: Mitsuo Matsumoto
(Director, REDD Research and Development Center, FFPRI, Japan)

Panelists Shinsuke Yazaki (Kanematsu Corporation, Japan)
Itaru Shiraishi (Marubeni Corporation, Japan)
and the others

Attendance is free of charge but wireless receivers for simultaneous interpretation are limited.

To register for the seminar please send your name and contact information by email to amazon@ffpri.affrc.go.jp.

